Accelerating Visions to Reality™

Davis & Dean is the leading provider of a unique and powerful approach to learning Project Management. Their “Flight Simulations for Leaders” enables participants to learn from experiencing actual challenges taken from real life. This program has been used literally all over the world to great success. AVR Associates is very proud to be able to offer this training through a partnership with Davis & Dean.

Davis & Dean - Managing by Project

Do more than just talk about project management, EXPERIENCE IT!

- Experience the intensity, anguish, and joy of being a Project Manager from the beginning to the end of a project.
- Experience creating and participating in a high-performance team.
- Experience learning and trying things in a safe environment.
- Experience making decisions and seeing their consequences.
- Experience changing situations, management interruptions, real people problems that gnaw at you as you guide the project to its completion.
- Experience the growth in your personal knowledge and ability to lead.
